

Bulletin to schools

June 2009

The Schools Linking Network is sharing the expertise and experience of their senior adviser Linda Cowie with Northumberland schools. The event is on 8 July, 9.30 to 3.30 at Choppington Social Welfare. This is a chance for schools to find out more about linking with contrasting UK communities. There will be a charge of £20 for teachers to attend. Contact Gill Finch on 01670 5434389 to book a place

Tides of Humanity is an innovative, compelling piece of music theatre for middle and high school pupils. A collaboration between Unison, NERS, The Sage Gateshead and our team means that 4 Northumberland schools will enjoy a performance and workshop about identity and heritage during July. To find out more, or book a performance for your school, contact Louise Taylor at the Sage Gateshead. 0191 443 4648
